

Each Unit of the Flex OPS™ Features:

2 options for attachment to a seat: insert headrest support posts through slots in the Flex OPS™, or use the provided adjustable strap around the headrest posts.

1 adjustable top strap with side-release buckle, for securing the upper end of a compound or crossbow to the seat.

3 rows of MOLLE webbing with standard military spacing for the optional attachment of MOLLE-compatible pouches and accessories. Also works well with carabiners and other fastening mechanisms.

1 full-width, 2-inch strip of hook & loop fastener (loop side) to attach patches or other items using hook side.

2 side-opening pockets (15" x 11.75") which can be used to suspend long items horizontally between two Flex OPS™ units on neighboring seats. Each pocket can also be used individually for general storage and closes with side flaps.

1 fold-down pouch to support the butt of a crossbow (behind top pocket).

Side-release buckles on the bottom corners of each side-opening pocket can be detached to allow the pocket to swing away from the seat back for greater versatility.

1 large open pocket (13.5" x 9") to support the base of a compound bow or for general storage.

2 smaller top-opening pockets (6" x 7" x 2") with closing flap for general storage.

Solid protective backing behind the full unit (overall size 17.5" x 26").

Adjustable strap to secure the Flex OPS™ fully against the seat back.

