Read and understand instructions before attempting installation

Step 1

Remove the factory grille; use a small screwdriver to remove the center from the four fasteners along the top (1). There is one fastener securing the bumper next to the grille; use a slotted screwdriver to pop the center and remove (1). The fasteners will be re-used; do not discard. Next, lightly pull the top of the grille assembly forward. Use your fingers to depress the remaining clips behind the grille. The grille can now be removed.

Step 2

The new grille uses a mounting plate along the top. Attach the mounting plate to the grille so the T-Rex name can be read on top of the grille (3). Use the nylon lock nuts and smaller washers to secure the plate. Install two flange nuts onto the lower mounting studs (face the flange away from the grille). Thread these nuts about halfway down each stud (2).

Note: If a bumper grille has been purchased; install at this time and then proceed to Step 3.

Step 3

Place two washers onto the lower mounting studs; then center the grille into the opening (2). Make sure the lower mounting studs align into the factory mounting holes. Adjust the flange nuts so the grille is flush to the bumper cover opening. Install two washers and lock nuts onto the lower studs (2); tighten hardware. The holes in the upper mounting plate align to the factory location. Use the factory fasteners to attach the plate (3). It may be necessary to slightly bend the mounting plate tabs so the grille aligns correctly. Slowly close the hood to check the alignment of the billet insert. If necessary, remove the grille and adjust the hardware / brackets.
